

Help Keep Good Jobs in the Puget Sound and Affordable Health Care for Workers

We are the 30,000 union grocery store workers of Puget Sound. We are your friends and neighbors. The CEOs of the big national grocery chains are proposing to cut our pay and health care.

They've tried that before—like in 2010 when United Food and Commercial Workers and the Teamster unions had to take a strike vote near Thanksgiving before these CEOs were willing to reach a fair compromise. This year, their proposals are worse than ever.

While many of us don't get paid much, we do have high quality health insurance for a low cost. That, and because we like helping our customers, is a key reason why many of us do our jobs. But these CEOs want to take away our health care, cut our pay, deny us paid sick days, cut our hours, and keep driving our jobs into a less secure, less dependable part-time job.

We've been in negotiations since March. In July, we held 12 informational pickets in front of stores. Hundreds of community supporters stood with us. In August, we will hold another 34 pickets—all on the same day—to reach customers. But if we are not able to turn these CEOs around, we will need your support if this becomes a full-scale labor dispute.

Yes! I pledge to adopt the store where I shop,* and I will:

- Speak to the store management and ask them to settle a fair contract;
- Tell the store manager that I will withhold my grocery dollars, if needed, to help protect good jobs and quality affordable health care;
- Adopt families in the store, if there is a strike, and help provide for their needs, and
- Walk the picket line and take actions at the store I adopt in order to connect with other customers.
