The Boeing Company Employee Retirement Plan

The below table shows your estimated projected Boeing Company Employee Retirement Plan benefit.

The projected benefit values are estimates only and are intended solely to help you understand your projected benefits under Boeing's current retirement benefits program, as modified by the recent SPEEA bargained changes. The estimates are for informational purposes only and create no legal or contractual rights. The estimates also reflect various assumptions and data, including assumptions and data that you may have entered in the course of preparing the estimates, that are difficult (if not impossible) to predict and beyond Boeing's control. Thus, there may be a material difference between your actual and projected benefit values. Boeing reserves the right to modify, amend, or terminate its plans at any time and for any reason. In the event of a conflict between these estimates and the terms of the plans, the terms of the plans will control.
