Boeing Fire Fighters Local I-66 Members Vote to Ratify Boeing Contract Agreement

RENTON, WASHINGTON – IAFF Boeing Fire Fighters Local I-66 members voted to ratify the latest tentative contract offer. The final vote tally was 86 in favor and 24 opposed. With the contract approved, the fire fighters that protect Boeing Co's Washington State facilities expect to return to work Saturday.

The new contract will bring Boeing firefighters' pay closer to parity with nearby fire department pay scales. It will also revise seniority progression, allowing Boeing firefighters to reach the top pay scale sooner than previous proposals offered.

"Boeing Local I-66 fire fighters stood tall in the face of a multi-billion-dollar company trying to break their ranks. The entirety of the Labor Movement stood with them, as did President Joe Biden, who called on Boeing to give fire fighters better pay and benefits," said IAFF General President Edward Kelly. "We're grateful our rank-and-file members got the contract they deserve, one that provides them with fair pay for their critical work. This is why collective bargaining matters – it gives workers a voice at the table and strengthens our country's middle class."
