

Summary of Your Benefits When You Leave The Boeing Company

Employees Represented by SPEEA – Professional and Technical

Generally, this guide applies to you if you are a union-represented employee of The Boeing Company as noted above. When you leave Boeing, your benefits will depend on how your departure is classified. Classifications include

- Resignation.
- Layoff (involuntary or voluntary).
- Retirement from active employment.

Note: This guide does not apply to you if you are classified as terminated for cause or you depart as a result of a divestiture.

Because you may be eligible for more than one of these classifications (for example, if you receive a layoff notice and you are eligible to retire), it is important to understand how the alternative you choose would affect your benefits. For example, certain benefits will be less favorable if you resign than if you retire. This guide describes each situation so that you are aware of the differences.

This guide covers the following three topics:

1. How the classification of your departure will affect your benefits.
2. Eligibility criteria for Boeing pension benefits.
3. Sources for more information.

Every effort has been made to provide an accurate summary of the programs, policies, and benefits described in this document. The material provided here about company policies, procedures, and benefits is for informational purposes only; it does not constitute a contract or contractual obligation. Certain eligibility provisions apply to each of the programs, policies, and benefits; not all of these provisions are described here. In the event of a conflict between the information provided and any of the official plan documents, policies, or procedures, the terms of the official plan documents, policies, or procedures, as applicable, will control. The Boeing Company reserves the right to change, modify, amend, or terminate any or all of the provisions of the plans, policies, or procedures, at any time and for any reason for employees, former employees, retirees, and their dependents and/or beneficiaries.

1. How Your Benefits Will Be Affected

Your Boeing benefits after you leave will depend on the reason for your departure: whether you resign, are laid off, or retire from active employment. To determine whether you are eligible to retire, see section 2 on page 8. The following table explains what happens in each situation:

Benefit	Reason for Your Departure
	Resignation	Layoff (involuntary or voluntary)	Retirement from active employment
The Boeing Company Layoff Benefits Plan For more detail, see the Layoff Benefits Plan summary plan description.	You will not be eligible for a benefit.	If your layoff is involuntary or voluntary, you may be eligible for a benefit of one week of base pay for each full year of service (to a maximum of 26 weeks). There is no credit for a partial year's service. The involuntary layoff benefit is payable as either income continuation or as a single lump sum. If you elect income continuation, such payments will cease when you commence your pension benefits. If you elect a lump-sum benefit, you will give up any applicable first-consideration rights. Generally, if your layoff is voluntary, you may be eligible for benefits (single lump-sum option only) under the Layoff Benefits Plan. You will be notified if you become eligible for benefits under this plan. Enhanced Layoff Benefit for SPEEA employees who are selected to be laid off because of work movement: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ The enhanced layoff benefit will provide for two (2) weeks of pay for every one (1) full year of service with the Company, up to a maximum of sixty (60) weeks, as well as six (6) months of continued medical and dental coverage. ▪ Affected employees will be eligible for a minimum of twenty-six (26) weeks of severance. ▪ The enhanced severance payment shall be paid as a single lump sum. You will be provided with a Release and Waiver document. Signing this document is required to receive enhanced layoff benefits. 	You will not be eligible for a benefit.

Ineligibility for a Pension Benefit

You will not be eligible for any pension benefit from The Boeing Company Employee Retirement Plan if at the time of termination, you are

- Younger than age 62 and have fewer than five years of vesting service (unless you were laid off after age 55 and you commence pension benefits within your six year layoff period), or
- Age 62 or older with less than one year of service at time of termination.
- If you were hired or rehired on or after March 1, 2013 (Professional Unit) or March 22, 2013 (Technical Unit), you will not be eligible for participation in BCERP with regard to service after such date.

Special note: All SPEEA represented BCERP participants on the active payroll, or an authorized leave of absence on December 31, 2018, will become 100% immediately vested in his or her accrued benefit under the BCERP as of December 31, 2018.
